

Master list of North American junior, senior and alumni drum and bugle corps compiled by Brian Tolzmann

1921 - 1971

This pre-DCI era index includes junior and senior drum and bugle corps from North America that were active prior to January 1, 1972 (the beginning of the DCI era). This list includes drum and bugle corps that were in competition, exhibition or performed in parades or standstills. These units are not documented as having been active after than January 1, 1972.

Following this section is a list of North American junior drum and bugle corps during the DCI era, a separate list of North American senior drum and bugle corps during the same period, as well as a list of junior and senior drum and bugle corps that have been noted in one or more sources, but may or may not have actually existed for a period of time.

The information contained in these lists was derived through thousands of hours of research over the last 20+ years using the following reference materials:

- Badgerland News magazine
- Corps Life magazine
- Drum Corps America, Racine, WI
- Drum Corps Canada magazine
- Drum Corps Digest magazine, Glenview, IL (1965-1972)
- Drum Corps Herald magazine
- Drum Corps News newspaper, Revere, MA (1961-1985)
- Drum Corps World magazine, Chicago, IL (1952-1966)
- Drum Corps World newspaper, Madison, WI (1972-2002)
- Drum and Bugle Corps Times newspaper
- Drum Corps Journal magazine
- Eastern Review magazine
- Fanfare magazine

- Heritage magazine
- Marche et Manoeuvres (FAMQ)
- Midwest Corps News magazine, Chicago, IL (1950-1951)
- Northeast Drum Corps News newsletter (1965-2002)
- Off the Line magazine
- On Parade magazine
- Pageantry Life magazine
- U.S./Canadian Drum Corps News newspaper
- American Legion state histories
- "B&W Drum Corps Directory" (Eastern Review)
- Collections loaned from dozens of individuals around the United States and Canada
- Correspondence with drum corps historians
- "Drum Corps Directory" (1964 -- U.S./Canadian Drum Corps News)
- "Drum Corps News Directory" (1963)
- "Encyclopedia of Drum & Bugle Corps" (1966)
- Jay Tobin's personal files -- he was the number one drum and bugle corps archivist during the 1948 to 1967 time period
- Microfilm research of numerous American newspapers
- Personal collection of hundreds of drum and bugle corps yearbooks dating back to 1921
- Personal collection of hundreds of drum and bugle corps show programs dating back to 1923
- "Salute to 50" (Ontario Drum Corps Association/Canadian Drum Corps Association history book produced by Al Tierney)

Names are listed as they were verified from one or more of the sources listed. The words "Drum and Bugle Corps" can be added to complete their name.

During the early years of the activity, most groups were known by their sponsor name or their city. In the late 1940s, corps began adopting names like "Cavaliers," "Cadets," "Lancers," "Knights," etc.

and often putting a color -- "Blue," "Black," "Scarlet," etc. -- in front of the title.

Many of the drum and bugle corps included here were probably affiliated with either an American Legion or VFW post, but this could not be confirmed except where specifically noted. The post number is listed if known.

Other drum and bugle corps were affiliated with -- or sponsored by -- CYO organizations and Catholic Parishes, the YMCA, Elks and Moose Lodges, as well as various military branches.

Where it is known that a drum and bugle corps represented more than one city or town, all known locations are included.

It is likely that during this time period there were hundreds -- perhaps thousands -- more drum and bugle corps in existence. Only the ones that were specifically noted in one or more of the extensive sources that were used to compile this list were included here.

Unfortunately, both the American Legion and VFW National Headquarters did not retain the records of their respective drum and bugle corps state, regional or national championship events, nor did they maintain lists of auxiliary, junior, senior or Sons of the American Legion units.

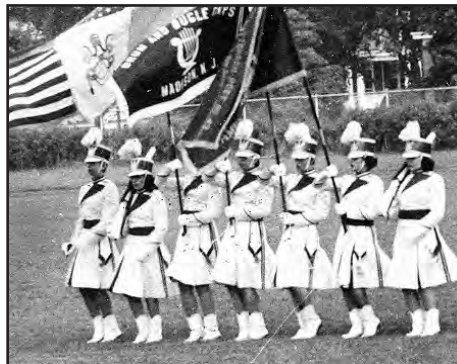

This is as complete, thorough and accurate a list of drum and bugle corps as it was possible to accumulate. It has been updated shortly before going to press in April, 2002.

The page number(s) on which a photograph of each corps appears is included in bold face type throughout this chapter.

1972 - 2002 #1

The DCI era listing that follows includes those North American junior drum and bugle corps that were active on the field, either as a competitor or as an exhibition corps, any time after January 1, 1972. This group also includes numerous drum and bugle corps that were active during the pre-DCI era, but whose lifespans extend into the DCI era (these are not listed in the first section, however).

For example, drum and bugle corps like the Cavaliers, Connecticut Hurricanes, Garfield Cadets, Hawthorne Caballeros, Madison Scouts, New York Skyliners, Norwood Park Imperials and Killties are not listed in the section covering 1921 to 1971, even though they did exist during that time.

1972 - 2002 #3

The groups listed in this section are North American junior drum and bugle corps that have existed since January 1, 1972, but have not made documented appearances on the field. Some of these units may have never gotten past the planning stage, but they were listed in one or more of the sources cited at the beginning of this section, so they were included here. Some of these corps may have been field-active prior to 1972.
